Taft-Hartley May Be Invoked

Administration Takes Opening Steps Toward Halting Strike

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — The Ford Administration took the opening steps today toward forcing a halt to a two-day-old nationwide strike of Teamster-truck drivers that has already resulted in industrial layoffs.

Meantime, sources close to both sides said bargainers were "very close" to agreement on a total economic package, but disagreement on how the money package should be distributed remained to be settled.

Negotiations resumed at 11 a.m. EST today.

The Ford administration, taking no chances on the possibility the strike could hamper the nation's economic recovery, today started preparations in Washington to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act against the strike.

Striking city workers in San Francisco, who have already shut down the cable cars and zoo, threatened to picket San Francisco International Airport.

The National Broadcasting Co. said it reran, for the second straight day, an entire episode of a daytime soap opera because of sabotage by striking technicians and news writers.

And if that was not enough, reports from around the country indicated that the month-long strike by beer bottlers against the Anheuser-Busch Co. was cutting off supplies of Budweiser.

Presidential assistant L. William Seidman asked several government agencies to prepare reports on the economic impact of the strike, administration sources said. The reports, to be returned to the White House by noon Saturday, would be needed if President Ford asked for a court injunction under the act to stop the walkout.

However, sources said it would probably be Tuesday at the earliest before the government could go into court.

The move was seen as an effort by the government to put added pressure on union and industry negotiators to resolve their dispute without government intervention.

Earlier, administration sources had said it appeared the government would refrain from invoking the Taft-Hartley act while bargaining continued and there were indications of progress.

modities in the state."

Young said his group represents 550, or most, of the trucking concerns in Kentucky.

Trouble between striking truckers and independent drivers was not expected, according to Young.

"If an independent driver is hauling an agricultural commodity to Chicago he's not going to be involved," Young said. But "he may have trouble getting the commodity distributed from the Chicago terminal."

Teamsters Local 651 President Ken Silver said the union had pickets Thursday at about 45 companies in Lexington, Fayette County and 33 surrounding counties.

The Teamsters local at Evansville had about 100 pickets on duty at Madisonville and Hopkinsville.

"There have been no incidents and we don't expect any," Silver said. "It's been very peaceful... Kentucky people do what the union tells them to. They're not wildcat type people."

Many Kentucky Truckers Are Affected By Strike

By The Associated Press

At least 5,000 Kentucky teamsters are affected by the national Teamsters Union strike, including about three-fourths of the state's truckers, according to an industry official.

Teamsters Local 89 President Marion Winstead said about 4,000 teamsters in Louisville are affected by the work stoppage. Local 89 covers a 40-county, multi-state area including Louisville.

About 1,000 other truck drivers in Kentucky belong to Teamster locals at Lexington, Evansville, Ind., Nashville, Tenn., and Cincinnati, Ohio.

Tom Maxedon, executive director of the Kentucky Petroleum Council, said some of the trucks used to transport gasoline brought into Kentucky by barge on the Ohio River could be halted by the strike.

Paul Young, managing director of the Kentucky Motor Transport Association, Inc., said the strike had halted "the main movement of general com-

Relatively Few New Laws Will Directly Affect Average Person

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The 1976 General Assembly passed hundreds of bills but relatively few of those which take effect June 19 will directly affect ordinary people in their everyday living.

However, among the new laws that will have an impact on a large number of Kentuckians are such measures as one that eliminates most fees charged in public elementary and secondary schools.

In addition, some free textbooks will be issued this year for high school students.

Other measures dealing with the public schools include a requirement that all children be immunized against rubella, or German measles, before entering the first grade. Children entering school within the next two years must be tested for tuberculosis.

Sunny and Warmer

Sunny and warmer today with highs in the mid to upper 60s. Partly cloudy and not as cold tonight with lows in the low to mid 40s. Partly cloudy and warmer Saturday with highs in the upper 60s to low 70s. Partly cloudy and cooler Sunday.

An anti-busing measure passed by the legislature prohibits use of state funds to transport pupils past the nearest school of the appropriate grade level.

But even some of the bill's supporters admit it will have little impact in light of the federal court order to integrate Jefferson County schools by busing about 22,000 schoolchildren.

Bills passed with the consumer in mind include a mobile home "lemon" bill to protect purchasers of habitually defective mobile homes. Manufacturers will be required to either fix the mobile home, replace it or refund the purchase price.

If you purchase merchandise that proves defective, you can use that fact in court if new creditors try to collect for the defective material.

When having a prescription filled, you can expect to pay less because the pharmacist will be required to use the less expensive generic drug unless you or your doctor specifically requests otherwise.

The General Assembly gave taxpayers a break by increasing the standard deduction allowed on the state income tax from $500 to $650. Blind taxpayers got a $20 tax credit hike, bringing their total credit to $60.

Senior citizens, or those over age 65, also got an additional $20 tax credit. They will also be able to attend state universities and colleges tuition-free.

The physically handicapped will be protected from employment and housing discrimination under a new law.

The sale of hearing aids will be restricted to prohibit sales without a doctor's examination.

Insurance policy-holders will get new protection under the law. Renewal of hospitalization or medical-expense insurance cannot be refused because of poor health.

Those of you planning to buy a used car will be able to get in touch with the car's previous owners. Used car dealers will be required to supply the information.

And sales tax on new cars will now be 90 per cent of the manufacturer's suggested retail price, instead of the full sticker price under the current practice.

If you're not satisfied with the hodgepodge of letters and numbers on your license plate, you can have it say anything you want, almost, for a $25 fee.

Unemployment Continues To Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged down to 7.5 per cent of the work force in March, marking the fifth straight monthly decline and the longest sustained drop in 14 years, the government said today.

Although the decline was slight — down from 7.6 per cent in February — Labor Department analysts said the steady improvement since October reflected continuing economic recovery from the recession.

Blacks and women benefited most from the March decline in unemployment, which was down by about 100,000, to a total of 7 million last month.

Total employment continued climbing in March, rising by another 375,000 to an all-time high of 86.7 million, the government said. Since reaching a recession-low last March, the number of Americans with jobs has risen by 2.6 million, with adult women accounting for more than half of the over-the-year increase.

The last time the unemployment rate dropped five consecutive months was between September 1961 and February 1962.

Unemployment declined gradually from the recession peak of 8.9 per cent last May and hovered about 8.6 per cent before beginning a rapid decline last October. But even with the improvement the jobless rate at 7.5 per cent remains far above its normal post World War II level.

Nevertheless, the Ford administration cited the improvement in the jobless rate and the declining inflation rate as vindication of its cautious economic policy. It also has been a boost to President Ford's election campaign.

Government economists see further improvement in the jobless rate this year, but caution that the decline is not likely to be continuous every month. In advance of the new unemployment report, Julius Shiskin, commissioner of labor statistics, had said he wouldn't be surprised to see the jobless rate edge up in March.

Shiskin said the normal decline in unemployment during the first year after a recession is about 1.5 per cent.

Registration Scheduled At Schools

Registration of children of Calloway County Schools for the first grade for the school year of 1976-77 has been set. Parents or guardians should attend the meetings at the school where they expect their children to attend. It will not be necessary to have the child in attendance that day.

Preregistration is to assist the school in making their teacher schedules and ordering materials for the coming year. Charles Lassiter, Pupil Personnel Director, has given the following dates for registration:

East Calloway Elementary — 9 a.m. Tuesday April 6.
Southwest Calloway Elementary — 9 a.m. Wednesday April 7.
North Calloway Elementary — 9 a.m. Thursday April 8.

FBI Agent Speaks To Rotary Club Thursday

"If you sit silent it's our condemnation," Federal Bureau of Investigation special agent Robert M. Domalewski told the Murray Rotary Club at its regular meeting yesterday.

Domalewski, who has served with the FBI for over 25 years, told the local civic group that the FBI is a viable, active organization. He said not to believe statements such as the "FBI is in decline, dead," or that the FBI does not hold the position in the public eye it did 10 years ago.

"If given the tools we can hold our own," Domalewski said. He reported that last year the FBI picked up 32,000 fugitives and had 15,750 convictions.

Domalewski said former FBI director J. Edgar Hoover has been maligned since his death. "Hoover took some 400 special agents, all political hacks, and made them into crack intelligence agents" when he took over the FBI in May of 1924, Domalewski said.

The FBI currently has 8,700 agents who are in the field every day "doing a dedicated job," he added. "They are the best public relations people we have," Domalewski said the dedication of the younger agents fills him with confidence.

He urged the Rotarians to be sure of what they see and hear about the FBI. "Don't jump to conclusions," he said.

Domalewski, who is married and the father of two children, serves as a special agent in the Louisville office of the FBI and lives at Fern Creek. He was introduced by program chairman, Walter Apperson.

Also attending the meeting was John Penrod, Paducah, special FBI agent for the West Kentucky area, who was introduced by County Attorney Sid Easley.

By February, it had already fallen by more than 1 per cent, and he predicted a drop of another one-half to three-quarters of a point during the rest of the year.

Other economists, including Sidney L. Jones, assistant treasury secretary for economic affairs, say statistics can move rapidly for a period of time, then reach a plateau and "hang-up for a while."

The last time unemployment has been below 7.5 per cent was in December 1974 when it was 7.2 per cent.

Jobless rates among most of the worker groups in the labor force were relatively unchanged last month with the exception of blacks whose unemployment rate fell 1.2 per cent to 12.5 per cent. Much of the improvement was among adult women, the government said.

Joblessness among blacks is now down nearly 2 percentage points from last September's peak of 14.4 per cent.

Grant To City Denied

A $450,000 grant to renovate the National Hotel Building has been denied to the City of Murray, according to City Planner Dan Grimes.

Grimes said the federal grant, from the Housing and Urban Development Department was placed 44th on a list of many projects in Kentucky, and only the top 21 were funded.

"We thought we had a foot in the door for getting this funded," Grimes said, "but nobody in West Kentucky got a dime," from the discretionary funds.

The building was to be used for public housing, for low income families, not just senior citizens.

Grimes said the city will "try again next year," and continue efforts to get the funds necessary for the renovation.

Wife Perplexed About Yo-yo Marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you in desperation. After six years of marriage my husband just walked off and left me. I feel like my whole world is falling apart.

One day three months ago I came home and discovered that he had moved out, lock, stock and barrel. I nearly went out of my mind.

Two weeks later he called to say that he was living out of town and was involved with another woman, but that he didn't want a divorce.

He comes in town once a week to see me. We go out together and he supports me. (He's a musician.) He says he still loves me but he doesn't want to live with me or stop seeing me.

Abby, I don't want a once-a-week husband, but I don't want to lose him. My friends tell me that I'm a fool and that as long as I give him his freedom to come and go, he'll never come back to me permanently.

Should I give him an ultimatum? I still love him. Please tell me what to do.

OUT OF MY MIND

DEAR OUT: Do nothing in haste. The worst mistake a woman can make is to give her husband an ultimatum if she isn't ready to accept the consequences. If you still love him, hang in there, and in time you will know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: My boss thinks he's perfect. I've worked for him for 11 years and have always automatically corrected his mistakes without calling them to his attention. Lately, whenever I make a mistake and he catches it, he will call my attention to it with scorn and derision. I dislike this. After all, if I did my work exactly as he instructed me, there would be literally 20 times the mistakes.

Would you advise me to point out all of his mistakes so that he would realize how many he makes?

SECRETARY

DEAR SEC: No. Continue to correct his mistakes automatically and without comment—that's what you're being paid to do. However, do let him know that you resent the "scorn and derision."

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I both smoke. We have smoked for years and realize that we have set a bad example for our daughter, 14, but we can't quit now. We know for a fact that our daughter smokes, but we refuse to give her permission to smoke in our home.

To compound our problem, my mother-in-law (who also smokes) agrees with the child. She claims that we are wrong in making a "sneak" out of the child. She insists that we allow our daughter to smoke in front of us and has even given her cigarettes.

I disagree and am appalled by my mother-in-law's attitude. Is there a solution?

WITHHOLD OUR NAMES

DEAR WITHHOLD: Your mother-in-law would have made a perfect serpent in the garden of Eden. The obvious solution to your problem is for you and your wife to quit smoking. And for goodness' sake, as long as your daughter is a minor and you have anything to say about it, do not give her permission to smoke in your home—or out of it!

Dr. James W. Hammack Speaks At Special Luncheon Held By UDC Chapter At The Gingles' Home

Guest speaker at the special luncheon held by the J. N. Williams Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at the home of Mrs. Fred Gingles was Dr. James W. Hammack, associate professor of the Department of History at Murray State University.

Dr. Hammack used as his subject, "The UDC Remembers." With information from journals and recollections of an early Columbus, Miss., UDC Chapter, Dr. Hammack described in detail the parties and balls which celebrated the period immediately after secession with all the elaborate foods and drinks served by hostesses, and the fancy costumes won by the Southern Bells.

As the war continued, said Dr. Hammack, parties still were given with all the unquenchable gay spirit of the southern people, but the refreshments served had generally shrunk to bowls of popcorn and molasses cookies.

Mrs. John J. Livesay, chapter president, led the pledge of allegiance to the American and Kentucky flags and the salute to the Confederate flag. Mrs. Leonard Vaughn read the minutes and Mrs. W. Z. Carter gave the financial report.

Miss Maude Nance, state UDC president, appealed for support of the UDC magazine.

Dr. Mildred Hatcher gave the invocation prior to the serving of the luncheon by Mrs. Gingles. Each dish was prepared in the same manner as the ancestors prepared it before the invention of stoves when cooking was done on fireplaces.

Others present were Mrs. J. O. Chambers, Mrs. Sydney S. McKinney, Mrs. Neva Waters, Mrs. Melas Linn, Mrs. E. W. Riley, Mrs. Lois Sammons, Mrs. Melvin Cayce, Mrs. Douglas Shoemaker, and Dr. Halene Visser.

Dr. Roy Hatton Guest Speaker At DAR Meeting At The Sturm Home

Dr. Roy Hatton, associate professor of the Department of History at Murray State University, spoke on "George Washington The Man" at the meeting of the Captain Wendell Ourry Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held at the home of Mrs. Paul Sturm.

The speaker described the character of America's hero emphasizing his human tributes, illustrated by incidents in his early life. Dr. Hatton said Washington was probably the only man of his time who could have held together the diverse elements of the revolutionary army and succeeded in leading them to victory.

"I do not believe in the present trend toward tearing down our great men of the past. They were great men probably the greatest ever before or since gathered together with a single purpose or goal to achieve the independence of our country," Dr. Hatton said.

Miss Maude Nance, vice-regent, introduced the speaker. Mrs. John J. Livesay, regent, presided. Mrs. Max Hurt led the DAR ritual. Mrs. John A. Nance gave the financial report, and Mrs. Leon Grogan read the minutes and gave a National Defense report.

Coffee and cake were served by Mrs. Sturm. Also present were Mesdames James Byrn, Price Doyle, Clifton Key, Corinne McNutt, Wells Pardon, Sr., Roy Hatton, Dr. Halen Visser, Dr. Mildred Hatcher, and Miss Pattie Allbritten.

Wade Underwood, Murray Native, Named As Executive Secretary Of Ohio Education Association

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Wade Underwood, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Underwood of Murray, has been named Executive Secretary of the 85,000-member Ohio Education Association (OEA).

Underwood, 40, was selected for the post by the OEA Executive Committee at its regular March meeting held here. He will succeed Stayner F. Brighton, who is retiring from the OEA on September 1. Brighton has been the OEA Executive Secretary since 1967.

When he assumes the post of executive secretary, Underwood will be responsible for the overall direction of the Association staff in the implementation of policies and programs established by the state teachers association. OEA activities include such functions as: assistance at the local negotiations table; processing of grievances; legal aid; lobbying; sponsorship of instructional conferences and membership communications. The OEA, with headquarters in Columbus, has some 170 full-time employees in 31 offices situated around the state.

A mathematics teacher in the Akron City Schools, Underwood is now serving his second term as president of the OEA. During his term as president, he has worked closely with the legislative program of the Association and has served on a number of statewide committees such as the State Department of Education's Assessment and Annual Progress Advisory Committee.

Underwood was a member of the OEA Executive Committee before being elected president-elect of the Association in 1972.

His entire teaching career has been in the Akron City Schools where he taught mathematics at Kenmore High School, Garfield High School and Goodrich Junior High School. Underwood began his Akron teaching assignment in 1957.

He served as chairman of the Akron Education Association (AEA) salary committee and was chief negotiator for the AEA. He was president of the AEA for six years and for four of those six years was a full-time officer of the association.

A native of Murray, Ky., he obtained his bachelors degree and masters degree from Murray State College. He is currently a doctoral candidate at the University of Akron.

Underwood, his wife Jean and three daughters—Elizabeth, Mary Jane and Catherine—live at 1014 West Comet Road, Clinton, which is south of Akron.

David Abbott, a New Carlisle-Bethel teacher and chairman of the committee which screened and interviewed candidates for the OEA post, said that Underwood "has a thorough knowledge of the total operation of the OEA and its vast service program to members."

Abbott added that Underwood's "extensive work as a negotiator, president of a large city teachers association and officer of the OEA has provided a wealth of experience in the diverse activities of the Association. He has a clear understanding of the needs of Ohio educators who expect the OEA to remain a strong voice in speaking out for the schools and teachers of this state."

Napoleon Cheese

It's true! Camembert first came to the attention of cheese-lovers during the time of Napoleon. Mme. Marie Harel, a dairy-maid of the Department of Orne, in northwestern France, was its creator. The cheese was served to Napoleon as he was dining at a local inn. He gave the cheese its name and insisted that the maker of this product be presented to him. Marie Harel became the most famous citizen of Camembert. Today, this cheese is made in the United States in commercial volume and excellent quality.

Men, What We Have Here...

When office machinery first came into being, it was the person, rather than the device, that was termed a typewriter. For reasons that have since been lost, or perhaps misfiled, the term shifted to the typewriter itself from the writer who typed. This was no simple matter because there were no automatic shifts back then.

"Since then the typewriters (mortal model) have progressed through a variety of job-related appellations — typists, retypists, secretaries, executive secretaries, secretaries to the executive secretaries and so on.

With such an advance it is probably not seemly that the same old machine be stuck with the same old name, typewriter. That is why, we suppose, a new model, electrically motivated, with a power return, a paper injector, a touch selector and a carriage loading ribbon, is not a typewriter at all any more. What is it? It is a "Communicator," with a Capital C.

We await personnel department's search for an Executive Communicator.

Many Executives Still Unsatisfied

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While the most popular stock market indicator, the Dow Jones index of 30 industrial stocks, has risen about 75 per cent from its low point on Dec. 6, 1974, many top executives are hardly satisfied.

Their feeling is like that of a lot of other Americans who, upon reading the good news about an economy once again moving forward, are inclined to think that they are excepted. They want to be included.

The big surge in stock prices, they say, has been concentrated in the bluest of the blue chips, leaving hundreds of other substantial companies in a very black mood.

The vast majority of companies are still experiencing difficulty in attracting attention to their shares, said C.V. Wood, Jr., chairman of the Committee of Publicly Owned Companies, of which 667 chief executives are members.

In material prepared for the Senate Finance Committee, Wood, who is president of McCulloch Oil Corp., called attention to what he said was a continued flight of small investors from the equity markets.

It is those investors, the committee believes, who provide the backbone of financing for some of the second and third tier companies — substantial, profitable companies that somehow don't attract the big institutional funds.

The institutions, it seems, choose to concentrate their money in the "establishment" companies, a good many of which are included in the compilations that make up the popular industrial average.

Odd-lot trading — which is trading in units of less than 100 shares, and which is supposed to be indicative of small investor activity — has not picked up in the most recent rally, despite a general upsurge in volume.

In February, Wood said, investors sold 11.2 million shares in odd-lots, and bought only 4.9 million shares. And something of the sort has been going on in mutual funds also, with redemptions running uncomfortably high.

The committee long has urged Congress to change the tax laws to encourage more participation by individual investors. It urgently seeks, along with other groups, a reduction of the double tax on corporate dividends.

The committee also seeks a $1,000 capital gains exclusion on securities transactions, and encouragement of employee stock-ownership plans as a means to broaden the shareowner base, which surveys show has been shrinking.

The problem, however, might not be entirely related to taxes. Some students of stock market activities feel they detect a fundamentally changed attitude in small investors, both toward the market itself and to the future in general.

Many of these investors were victimized by the wild up-down churning of the market in the late 1960s and are determined not to be caught again. Some of them seem to be less confident of vigorous, uninterrupted economic growth.

What this seems to indicate is that the individual investor, burned a few times but possessed of essential common sense, is still inclined to play it safe for a while more. He wants more assurance. And maybe he wants tax relief too.

TV Hits New Low

By Mike Brandon

Television in America hit a new all-time low Thursday night, though the Nielsen Ratings may disagree.

It's bad enough for children to be exposed to movies like the Slaughterhouse Five. Okay. So turn the channel and you find one of the regular weekly shows with this week's segment being about rape.

And then of course as the last resort: Helter Skelter. The loveable story of a young fellow named Charles Manson who got his girls together and told them he was Jesus Christ and then set about on a sex-murder escapade, which will be continued tonight in the concluding two-hour segment.

At one point Thursday night, every show on the three major networks had on at the same time programs whose producers suggest "parental guidance" before letting the children watch.

The simple truth is there is a direct correlation between violence on television and our reaction to violence when we see it in real life.

We see so much violence on television that we no longer are affected by it in real life situations. That is one reason you read in papers every now and then where someone is beaten to death on a city street while a crowd of people just stand and watch, without doing anything to help.

Television has done more to destroy the morals of our nation than any one singular thing.

This suggestion is offered: Perhaps parents should be required to get consent from their children before watching television.

Sunday School Lesson

By Dr. H. C. CHILES

Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Committee on the Uniform Series and used by permission.

THE BASIS OF JUDGMENT

Matthew 25:31-46

When Christ comes again, for the purpose mentioned in this lesson, it will be in the role of a mighty, majestic, and glorious King and Judge. When he comes in his glory and power, the holy angels will accompany him, and he shall sit upon his great and glorious throne in ineffable splendor.

The Division—Matthew 25:31-33

Christ clearly indicated that, on the occasion of the great assize mentioned here, the Judge will be "the Son of Man," his favorite title, and the one which he used seventy-eight times when referring to himself. That judgment has been committed to him is conclusive from his statement: "For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son" (John 5:22).

God continuously watches over his chosen people, who have been scattered because of their unbelief, and he will not hold guiltless those who harm them. With unerring accuracy the righteous judge will separate into two groups those who have done good to the brethren and those who have done evil to them, just as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats at the close of the day. He will place the former on his right—the place of honor, power and blessing, and will place the latter on his left—the place of dishonor and condemnation. God has repeatedly punished "His people," but he does not want others to persecute them. Earthly parents can understand this, for they frequently punish their children, but they will not permit others to do so.

The Declaration—Matthew 25:34-35

Speaking to those on the right, the Judge will invite them to "inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world," and enjoy all the benefits connected therewith, all of which were made available by Christ. This gracious invitation will be extended to them because of their relationship to and attitude toward Christ. The commendation and appreciation, which they will receive, will be expressions of gratitude for what they have done for him—feeding him, giving him drink, welcoming him as a stranger, clothing him, and visiting him when he was sick and in prison. Not knowing when they did these things for the Messiah, and astonished at his remarks, they will inquire, "Lord, when did these things take place?"

Then, "the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." In other words, a splendid way to minister unto Christ is to minister to the spiritual, intellectual, emotional, and physical needs of others. And remember that ministering to the needs of others is both an evidence and a fruit of salvation, but never a condition on which one may obtain salvation. If rendered from a heart of love and with a desire to be helpful, service to others will be counted as service to Christ. Christlike people take delight in forgetting themselves in loving service to those who need it.

It is God's will that present-day Christians, whom he has blessed with so many spiritual blessings and so many material possessions, shall minister to those who need what they have to share. To refuse to do so is to disobey and grieve the heavenly Father. When we lovingly minister to God's children, it is as though we are ministering unto him. What a splendid revelation of the reality of his identification with true believers! Their needs and their sufferings are his. So, we prove our love for Christ, or the lack of it, by what we do toward meeting the needs of others. If done out of love for and in the name of Christ, faithfully ministering to the needs of others will result in our being rewarded by him.

The Destiny—Matthew 25:46

One's destiny is determined by his acceptance or rejection of Christ as Saviour. Those who trust him as Saviour will spend eternity in heaven with the righteous. Those who reject Christ will spend eternity in hell with Satan and his followers. Let those of us in whom Christ now dwells strive to please him by demonstrating a growing concern for the salvation and well-being of others.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, President John Hancock of the Continental Congress congratulated George Washington on the British evacuation of Boston, writing: "The patriotic principles which led you to the field, have also led you to glory."

HEARTLINE

This is the second part of a two-part interview with Lydia Bragger, the National Coordinator of the Gray Panthers Media Watch.

Heartline: How do you think the fact that T.V. displays the image that old is bad affects all of us that watch T.V.?

Mrs. Bragger: There are many people affected by this. Middle age people watch this and think this is what they're going to be like. Young people watch and think that this is the way old people are. Many old people actually accept these images and sink even further into the state of depression that they were already in. It also affects old people in the treatment that they get from other age groups, and they themselves become resigned and do not try to get out of this condition that society has told them that they are in.

Heartline: What has Media Watch been able to do about this so far?

Mrs. Bragger: The executive board of The National Association of Broadcasters voted on June 19, 1975 to amend the N.A.B. television code to include the word "age" in its sensitivity guidelines pertaining to sex, race and color. This amendment, which applies to people of all ages, was the result of a presentation made to the board by the Gray Panthers Media Watch committee. We are, at this time, developing guidelines for other Media Watch groups to monitor other television shows. All networks are guilty, and even though C.B.S. was our first contact, we intend to contact them all and present a good case using transcripts and videotapes.

Heartline: Do you feel that you've created a state of awareness, or opened any eyes at C.B.S.?

Mrs. Bragger: Yes, I feel that C.B.S.'s vice president of program practices, Tom Swafford, is concerned about our objections. We feel we have made some headway but have a long way to go, not only with networks but the viewers themselves. We need support.

Heartline: Can you give us an example of demeaning stereotyping?

Mrs. Bragger: As Maggie Kuhn pointed out recently, the Carol Burnett programs have been disgusting. On nearly every show, a character comes on stage drooling, senile and slack-jawed. Some people do lose control of their mouth muscles, and it is not funny. Carol Burnett demeans older people with ridiculous dialogues about sex, implying all they can do is put their false teeth in water at night.

Old people are shown as crotchety, like Redd Foxx on Sanford and Son, or meddlesome, like the grandmother on the Jeffersons. Johnny Carson does a great deal of stereotyping the elderly image in a negative vein, and there are more. It simply should stop. We would like to see a more positive light put on old people.

Heartline: To sum it up what would you say?

Mrs. Bragger: To sum up, I would say that such unfavorable characterizations of old people not only perpetuated and reinforced prejudicial roles, but that they also contributed to the ridicule of older citizens in their personal lives, and the discrimination against them in the economic and employment spheres. It must stop.

If you have any comments or want more information about the Gray Panthers Media Watch, write to Media Watch Project, at 1841 Broadway, Room 300, New York, New York 10023.

Isn't It The Truth

Just why should the U. S. Postal Service pay its own way? The Defense Department doesn't pay its way to the tune of 90-odd billions a year and neither do Agriculture, Interior, Commerce, Housing, Education and Welfare, and State. Why not make Henry Kissinger pay his way, and both houses of Congress, too? And by the way — the glue on the new 13-cent stamps doesn't taste so good. It tastes like the postal service smells — rotten.

Some Hope In Breast Cancer Fight

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Results in the treatment of breast cancer continue to be bleak, especially in the more advanced cases. Surgical treatment varies from simple mastectomy (removal of only the breast) to radical operative procedures (removal of the breast plus dissection of the lymph nodes from the armpit, removal of certain muscles, and possibly taking out the nodes between the ribs at the side of the breastbone). Such extensive surgery, covering a wide area of the body, is always traumatic, and the patient usually feels she has been deprived of parts of her body essential to being a "complete woman." She may require support and rehabilitation to regain her use of the upper limb on the affected side, to keep her mentally balanced, and to help her to avoid remorse and depression.

In addition, postoperative radiation therapy is often used to attempt to eradicate any remaining cancerous cells. This radiation is based on the knowledge that tumor cells, too small to detect, may already have spread from the cancer to regional tissues.

To return to surgical treatment, certain breast tumors which have spread are stimulated in their growth by female hormones. Castration (removal of the ovaries) may be done to remove the stimulating effects of the sex hormones and to arrest the growth of the cancer cells temporarily.

While body immunity against cancer, similar to immunity against infection, is a factor in the spread of breast tumors, efforts to increase immunity have not been rewarding in mammary cancer.

In recent years, the most encouraging results against advanced breast cancer have come from chemical therapy, particularly in the use of a combination of several chemicals to which cancer cells are especially sensitive. These chemicals are used to kill the cells.

In a recent issue of The New England Journal of Medicine, Gianni Bonadonna, M.D., and associates, of Milan, Italy, reported a series of cases of advanced breast cancer in which the mix of three drugs (cyclophosphamide, Methotrexate, and 5-fluorouracil — called CMF for short) decreased cancer recurrence from 24 to 5.3 per cent. The anti-tumor effects of the mix was considered by the researchers to be statistically significant, but they are cautious in their optimism.

Breast cancer is a tough disease. The best hope of favorable results is in a case of early detection followed promptly by appropriate treatment.

Q: Mr. S.M. writes that he is troubled periodically with cellulitis in his upper legs and asks whether it can be benefited by certain exercises.

A: Exercises are not helpful in the treatment of cellulitis. In fact, they may aggravate the inflammation. Rest, hot packs, and antibiotics are indicated when it flares up. Avoid massage and exercise if the area is acutely inflamed. If you have not done so, you should be examined by a physician to determine why you have a persistence of cellulitis in the hope of being able to determine and treat the cause.

Q: Mrs. C.C. has a child who occasionally requires injections of adrenalin to relieve attacks of asthma. She wants to know if such shots can become habit forming or addictive.

A: Adrenalin (epinephrine) has been used for years and has never been reported as having addictive properties. Adrenalin is a powerful drug which narrows the arteries, increases the pulse rate and blood pressure, relaxes the bronchial tubes, and lessens lung congestion. The effects are of short duration. Adrenalin should be used sparingly and not abused. You may want to talk to your physician about other available medicines which can be inhaled or taken by mouth and which often lessen the frequency and duration of attacks of bronchial asthma.

Life is a PUZZLE

God's design for man is like a puzzle. We can not see the whole picture-we see only the parts. As Paul expressed it in I Corinthians 13:12 "I know in part-then shall I know even as I am known."

Life without Christ is like an unfinished puzzle-we cannot understand its pattern or meaning. It is totally confusing. Life is hectic and chaotic, but with Christ, the pieces begin to fall in place. We begin to understand God's design for our life. Everything begins to fit. We begin to see the whole picture. Then our life starts to have meaning, for we understand God's purpose for us. Life, then, will no longer be a puzzle.

Bosox Manager Pleased With Effort By Reggie Cleveland

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer
It was only the second loss of the exhibition season for Boston, the defending American League champions, but Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson was pleased with what he saw.

What Johnson observed was strong pitching by starter Reggie Cleveland, who went five innings, and relievers Jim Willoughby and Tom House.

"Reggie had the best stuff he's had all spring, but he was up high too much," Johnson said after the Montreal Expos broke a 3-3 tie in the top of the 13th inning and went on to take a 6-5 victory.

Cleveland gave up three runs, one unearned, on seven hits. But he struck out five and didn't walk a batter. The loss was suffered by rookie Mark Bombardier, who was tagged for six hits in three innings.

The Red Sox came back in the bottom of the 13th, scoring two runs on Butch Hobson's double, singles by Tim Blackwell and Cecil Cooper, a sacrifice and an infield out. But it was not enough.

Chicago Cubs pitcher Bill Bonham also put on a stingy performance, tossing a one-hit shutout against the slugging Oakland A's for five innings. Bonham then yielded the A's only run in the sixth before Oscar Zamora and Mike Garman hurled hitless balls the rest of the way. Meanwhile, Jose Cardenal doubled and scored a run, then singled across another as the Cubs downed Oakland 4-1.

Baltimore's Mike Torrez was sailing along with a one-hitter, facing the minimum 15 batters through the first five innings before Atlanta erupted. Rowland Office and Dave May each drove in two runs as the Atlanta Braves exploded for five runs in the sixth inning and took a 5-2 victory over the Orioles.

Jerry Martin drove in five runs, three with a first-inning homer, to help the Philadelphia Phillies slam St. Louis 16-7. When the Cards closed to 8-7 with three runs in the bottom of the sixth, Philadelphia wrapped it up with eight runs in the ninth, including a two-run homer by Bobby Tolan.

The Giants were out hit 13-5, but San Francisco came away with a 5-3 victory as a single by Willie Montanez and a triple by Ken Reitz drove in three runs in the fifth.

A bases-loaded double by Tom Poquette in the eighth inning lifted the Kansas City Royals over the New York Yankees 4-3. Jamie Quirk's solo homer and Frank White's RBI double accounted for the other Kansas City runs.

Cleveland's Joe Lis' three-run blast with two out in the ninth sent the Indians to a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee.

The New York Mets won their first exhibition game in nine outings when Jerry Grote smashed a two-run single in the 11th inning. The Mets gained a 5-5 tie with two runs in the ninth before clipping the LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers made their second major squad cut of the spring training baseball season Thursday, paring six players and getting down to 31.

Cut Squad

Sent to Tigertown for reassignment Friday were pitchers George Cappuzzello, Frank McCormack and Ed Glynn; third baseman Phil Mankowski; shortstop Mark Wagner; and outfielder John Valle.

All those sent down are rookies. McCormack was the only non-roster player in the group. One non-roster player remains with the major league club, rookie pitcher Mark Fidrych.

To Host Tourney

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The United States will host the World Cup and International Trophy Golf Championships in 1976 for the fourth time, International Golf Association officials announced Thursday.

The XXIV World Cup Tournament will be held at Mission Hills Country Club in Palm Springs, Dec. 8-12 with two-man teams from 50 countries invited to compete.

Johnny Miller and Lou Graham captured the World Cup for the United States last year in Bangkok, Thailand, with Miller winning the individual honors. The winners of this year's U.S. Open and PGA tournaments will be invited to represent the United States.

Other World Cup play was hosted by the United States in 1955, 1964 and 1971.

Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5. Cincinnati clobbered knuckleballer Wilbur Wood for three runs in the first inning and Jack Billingham scattered four hits in six innings as the Reds beat the Chicago White Sox 3-2. Billingham struck out four and walked none in posting the longest string of any Cincinnati pitcher this spring.

Roger Metzger's run-scoring single capped a three-run Houston burst in the ninth inning that gave the Astros a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Wilbur Howard homered for Houston in the fourth, while Detroit's Bill Freehan led off both the fifth and seventh inning with doubles, scoring each time.

Bill Melton, Leroy Stanton and Joe Lahoud slammed consecutive home runs as the California Angels crushed Chapman College.

The Minnesota Twins, with Bert Blyleven hurling six innings of four-hit ball and rookie catcher Butch Wynegar scoring two, closed their spring training camp with a 3-0 victory over Tacoma, their Pacific Coast League farm club.

Andy Messersmith To Testify In His Case

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Testimony in the Andy Messersmith-New York Yankees dispute will come today from — of all people — Andy Messersmith.

The star pitcher will be the star witness in the cause celebre over whether his agent did or didn't commit him to the Yankees. The hearing was to be held in the offices of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn who said Thursday he had seen all the documents in question.

"I can't comment on it," Kuhn said after Thursday's four-hour session with representatives of both sides. "Hopefully, I'll have a decision Friday."

Messersmith, who officially became a free agent more than two weeks ago, has allowed Herb Osmond, his agent, to do the negotiating for him.

According to today's editions of the New York Times, the two key differences concern the no-cut provision and deferred payments in the memorandum signed by Osmond and Yankee President Gabe Paul and the formal contract Messersmith was later asked to sign. The former Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher refused to sign the contract and charged the Yankees with reneging on the deal.

Messersmith had wanted

Kuhn Finds Himself Caught In Middle Of Tough Problem

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn — caught in the middle of a battle that now involves two countries, both pro leagues and some of the United States' most influential politicians — still is looking for a comfortable seat on the Toronto expansion time bomb.

Kuhn set the incendiary mechanism at seven days by announcing Thursday that the American League may expand to Canada's commercial capital if, before that period expires, the league can provide "suitable provision for Washington." If it does not, he said, "I will consider the application of the National League" for a 1977 franchise.

The commissioner did not define what a "suitable provision" would be and said he did not expect an enthusiastic response to his ruling.

In a seven-paragraph prepared statement that outlined his position, Kuhn admitted that "this decision may well be disappointing in whole or in part to all of the parties and communities involved."

No one agreed more readily than AL President Lee MacPhail, whose opinion was that "any attempt by the Commissioner to interfere is neither just nor fair."

But there are things MacPhail and his owners may have overlooked in making the statement, such as the fact that "during the past week political and civic leaders in Washington have urged me to take the necessary steps to return baseball to the Nation's Capital. These leaders include President Ford," according to Kuhn.

Then there is Kuhn's obligation to safeguard the "best interests of baseball," a term some find as nebulous as the phrase "a suitable provision for Washington."

All in a day's work, according to Kuhn. "Sometimes, you write things on purpose that are not totally clear," he said. Meanwhile, it appears everyone is acting as though Kuhn hadn't made a statement Thursday. MacPhail said his league "intends to go forward with its plans for Toronto," and Herb Solway — attorney for the Toronto group which seeks a franchise — said, "This is obviously an interleague fight with Kuhn. We can just go ahead with the assumption that everything will work itself out."

What Kuhn says has to be worked out is "whether the (American) League's plan of expansion into Toronto is permissible since it falls to make any provision for

New Head Coach

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Ed Bettendorf was named on Thursday head swimming coach at Yale University, only the third person to hold the post at the Ivy League school in the last 60 years.

Bettendorf, 27, is a former captain of the Yale swimming team and was assistant coach of the squad for the past four seasons.

He succeeds Phil Moriarty, who retired as head coach after Yale's upset of Harvard Feb. 28.

Moriarty held the job 17 years after Bob Kipphut spent 42 years in it.

baseball in Washington, D.C. The second question which has been put to me by the National League is whether its plan of expansion into Toronto and Washington should be given priority over the American League plan."

He did make clear that returning baseball to Washington, which has been without a franchise since the Senators moved to Arlington, Tex., in 1972, "should be given priority consideration."

Back To Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Two veteran Indianapolis 500-mile race drivers, Gordon Johncock and Wally Dallenbach, entered the 66th running of the race on Friday.

Johncock, who won a rain-shortened Indy 500 in 1973, and Dallenbach, always a challenger, will drive turbocharged Drakes built by mechanic George Bignotti.

A car without a driver was also entered by Syracuse, N.Y., businessman Patrick Santello, bringing the entry list to 24.

The race will be run on Sunday, May 30.

BOWLING

MILWAUKEE — Les Zikes ran his 26-game total to 5,881 to a 11-pin lead over Barry Asher in the $80,000 Professional Bowlers Association Tournament.

Honest Pleasure Looms As Premiere Performer

By BOB COOPER
AP Sports Writer

The heavy Kentucky Derby favorite Honest Pleasure stands out in three prep races for America's premiere horse race Saturday as some two dozen 3-year-old thoroughbreds seek enough credentials to make it to the Louisville classic May 1.

Honest Pleasure, owned by Bertram Firestone, was assigned 122 pounds in the $153,400 Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park, the final test in Florida for Kentucky Derby challengers. Six of the horses are entered in Saturday's race.

Meantime, E.C. Cashman's Elocutionist and Harold Snyder's Sonkisser, also headed on a collision course toward the Kentucky Derby, head the field in the Arkansas Derby.

In New York, the Hirsch Jacobs Stakes winner, Zen, tops a probable field of 10 in the Gotham Mile at Aqueduct as another prelude to the Kentucky Derby.

Honest Pleasure drew the fourth post position in the Florida Derby that will gross $153,400 if all seven entries go to the post Saturday afternoon.

His chief opposition should come from Proud Birdie, winner of the Bahamas and Everglades stakes and only second by a head in the Fountain of Youth Stakes.

Braulio Baeza will be aboard Honest Pleasure, the easy winter book favorite for the Kentucky Derby in the final Florida classic that will earn $92,040 for the winner. Mickey Solomone will mount Proud Birdie for the first time in this race.

Trainer Rosemary "Pinkie" Henderson decided that Proud Birdie needed a harder spanking than he got in the Fountain of Youth from his regular rider and switched jockeys for this race.

In the Arkansas Derby, Elocutionist is coming off an impressive victory in a mile-plus allowance race last Saturday and Sonkisser is the winner of both Hutcheson and Fountain of Youth in his last two starts.

Wiechers And Brewer Share Lead In Greensboro Tourney

By BOB GREEN

AP Golf Writer
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Some "pot luck" iron shots, a brand-new putter and some wet, shivering pickets were the first-round features in the $230,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"The fairways were so muddy you were just playing pot luck out there," said big Jimmy Wiechers, who survived his difficulties Thursday with a five-under-par 66 that gave him a tie for the lead with old pro Gay Brewer.

Brewer, using a new putter in competition for the first time, got his share of first place late in the cold, windy, cloudy, occasionally drizzly day with eagles on two of his last four holes.

Included in their galleries—in the dismal weather that has become a fixture at this old tournament—were some shivering, placard-carrying NBC technicians who are on strike and were picketing the cameras that are scheduled to provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. The show will go on, NBC officials said.

BASKETBALL

NEW YORK — Los Angeles Laker center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was named winner of the 1976 National Basketball Association Most Valuable Player Award.

NEW YORK — Dick Stewart, an assistant coach at the University of Oregon, was named head coach at Fordham University.

"I'm playing as good as I've ever played," insisted the slump-ridden, 44-year-old Brewer. "It's my putting and chipping that has held me back."

So the gray-haired veteran, winner of 11 titles in a 20-year career, took the last two weeks off, went home to Palm Springs, Calif., and worked on his short game.

He finally settled on a new model of an old standard club, brought it to Greensboro and, using it in competition for the first time, one-putted half the greens and holed five putts in the 20-25 foot range.

Two of those were for the eagles that vaulted him past 19 players.

Wiechers, who has yet to gain an official title in nine years of tour activity, said he'd been playing so poorly, "I'm still just trying to make the cut."

They shared a one-stroke advantage over Dave Stockton, U.S. Open champ Lou Graham and Bob Payne, tied at 67.

The group at 68, three under par on the wet, hilly, 6,643-yard Sedgefield Country Club course, were Lee Trevino, Kermit Zarley, Don Bies, DeWitt Weaver, Miller Barber and Allen Miller.

Defending champion Tom Weiskopf headed a large group at 69. Gary Player shot a 72 and 63-year-old Sam Snead, an eight-time winner of this tournament, was at 73.

Jack Nicklaus, Hubert Green, Hale Irwin, Tom

Watson, Johnny Miller and Ben Crenshaw skipped this event in favor of practice for next week's Masters, the first of the year's four major championships.

Charlie Scott Knocks Cavaliers From Lead

By MIKE HARRIS

AP Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Charlie Scott, had "em 'dancin' in Washington" Thursday night as he exploded for 30 points in Boston's 95-88 National Basketball Association victory over Cleveland.

The Celtics, who came into the game with apparently little to kindle their competitive fire, took it to the Cavaliers and knocked them right out of first place in the NBA Central Division.

Cleveland went into the game with a .003 percentage point edge over the Washington Bullets. To the chagrin of a home throng of 19,392, Scott's 18-point, third-quarter barrage signaled the end of the Cavs' overnight stay on top.

The Boston-Cleveland contest was the only game Thursday in the NBA. There were no American Basketball Association games scheduled.

"Ain't that something," lamented Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch. "We're supposed to be happy this time of the year, with a playoff spot clinched. But they're dancing in Washington tonight."

"If we don't win the championship, we've made the playoffs and we can get ready to do it all there. I told the players we could learn some things from tonight," Fitch said.

Tom Heinsohn, Boston's coach, said the games now are still important to the Celtics—

Kathy McMullen Leads Winners Circle Tourney

By KEN PETERS

AP Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Kathy McMullen wandered into the press tent, glanced up at the scoreboard and sighed, "Love those scores."

The one she was most interested in was a 68 next to her name. Miss McMullen, who finished second in the Dinah Shore Winners Circle Golf Championship last year, and Susie Berning each had 68s Thursday to share the opening-round lead of this year's edition of the $200,000 tournament at Mission Hills Country Club.

"I had a 76 in the opening round last year," Miss McMullen recalled. "I like this better."

Her putting, sharp at times, cost her the uncontested lead. She three-putted both the first and 14th holes for bogeys, then missed two six-footers for birdies on the 16th and 17th.

But Miss McMullen, who lost the Winners Circle by a stroke to Sandra Palmer last year, said she's confident her game is in top-notch condition.

"I feel like I'm hitting the ball better now than I had in the past," she said. "I just hope I can play with more consistency."

While Miss McMullen's putting was erratic, Mrs. Berning had no trouble with hers.

"I dug out an old putter," she remarked, "and it seemed to do the job."

She had five one-putt greens and never three-putted as she carded four birdies on the back nine en route to a 32 after posting a par 36 on the front nine of the 6,370-yard, par-72 Mission Hills course.

Lurking just a stroke back of the leaders of the first 18 holes were Jane Blalock and Jan Stephenson, both at three-under-par 69.

Miss Blalock won the first Winners Circle tournament back in 1972 and Miss Stephenson was the LPGA's rookie of the year in 1974.

In a cluster at 70 were Kathy Whitworth, Gloria Ehret, Janet LePera, Carol Mann, Pat Bradley and Joann Washam.

Miss Palmer began defense of her title on a sour note, carding a 76 Thursday.

Kentucky Division Of Red Cross To Conduct Water Safety School

In keeping with its role as one of Kentucky's leading exponents of safety awareness, accident prevention and life saving, the Kentucky Division of the American Red Cross will conduct a water safety institute at Camp Cedarmore, Bagdad, Kentucky from June 4 through 13 according to Mr. Robert Phillips, Safety Director.

This is a nine day school to train men and women 15 years of age or older in lifesaving, first aid, cardiopulmonary resuscitation and to give instructor and aide authorizations in water safety and handicapped swimming. Men and women 17 years or older may become water safety instructors after satisfactorily completing the course. The cost of attending the institute is $95 which covers room, board, insurance, and instructional materials.

Mr. Phillips stated that the

Bro. Lloyd Perrin will be the evangelist at the revival services to be held at the Kirksey Baptist Church starting Monday, April 5, and continuing through Sunday, April 11. Services will be at 7:30 each evening.

institute will serve as a spring board for the start of the Kentucky Red Cross Safety Services Program's 1976-77 fiscal year. During the last fiscal year Mr. Phillips advised that a total of 1,319 Red Cross courses in first aid were taught in Kentucky. In addition, 1,629 swimming courses were conducted and 24 courses in small craft safety. Many more people throughout the state received Red Cross safety information through demonstrations, films, and publications, according to Mr. Phillips.

Nationally, Mr. Phillips said, the Red Cross has provided safety education for Americans since 1910, and continues to expand and improve teaching methodology in order to meet the ever-increasing demand for safety programs instruction and information. Some of the new concepts introduced last year included: Development of a new course in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and introduction of a textbook and teaching manual on the subject. The CPR course increases awareness of early warning signs, risk factors and symptoms of heart attack, as well as basic life-support emergency first aid measures to be applied in the first few seconds after cardiac arrest.

Introduction of a new, modular method of teaching CPR in order to reach a larger audience. Using workbooks, manually operated film viewers and a realistic mannequin, students are allowed to pace themselves through the instruction, assuring a high level of standardization, retention and proficiency.

Sponsored a special conference of distinguished physicians to discuss procedures to aid victims of choking.

This conference recommended three manual maneuvers for removing obstruction of the airway, which usually occurs during eating, ranks sixth as a cause of accidental death in this country and accounted for approximately 2,900 deaths in 1974, according to the National Safety Council. The most common obstruction in adults is meat.

The recommended maneuvers vary according to whether the emergency involves a conscious victim with known complete obstruction of the airway or an unconscious victim.

The maneuvers are as follows: Back Blow—A rapid series of sharp blows delivered with the hand over the victim's spine between the shoulder blades. They should be delivered quickly, forcefully, and in rapid succession.

Abdominal Thrust—Chest Thrust—A rapid series of upper abdominal thrusts or chest thrusts which produce forced expiration of air from the lungs. The techniques incorporate some methods advocated by Dr. Henry J. Hemlich, director of Surgery at Cincinnati's Jewish Hospital.

Finger Probes—A procedure that may be used to remove a foreign body from the air passage. A combination of back blows and manual thrusts may expel the object so it is more accessible to the fingers.

The techniques have been endorsed by the Commission of Emergency Services of the American Medical Association.

The findings will be published by the American Red Cross for use in its safety and nursing courses.

Mr. Phillips pointed out that changes such as these made it increasingly important that individuals keep abreast of the improvements continually being made in the field of safety education.

Further information and application for the Water Safety Institute may be obtained by contacting Mr. Robert E. Phillips, Director Safety Programs, Kentucky Division American Red Cross, P. O. Box 1675, Louisville, Kentucky 40201.

POLLUTION CONTROL
CHICAGO (AP)—More than $195 billion will be spent by American industry on water pollution control equipment over the next decade, according to Ecodyne Corp.

The firm said the amount represented three times the total 1975 Gross National Product of The Netherlands.

COLLECTION DEDICATED
JERUSALEM (AP)—The Hannah Hirschhorn Baumann Americana Collection has been dedicated here by the American Jewish Committee.

The collection—the gift of Mrs. Baumann of Rye, N. Y.—consists of over 500 books and periodicals on American Jewish life.

Evangelist for the revival services at the Dexter Baptist Church starting Monday, April 5, and continuing through Saturday, April 10, will be Bro. Wade Copeland. The time of the services will be at 7:30 p.m. each week day night.

Not All Americans Receiving Speech And Hearing Aid Needed

Louisville, Ky.—Millions of Americans have speech or hearing problems, or both, and "by no means all of them" are receiving the professional help they need, Bert Combs, chairman of the Kentucky Easter Seal campaign, said today.

"Lack of proper speech or hearing deprives a child of primary means of communications—vital links in the chain of learning," he explained. "Adults with these problems are barred from certain employment categories and suffer social discomfort."

"Speech therapists and audiologists have the means to help patients overcome these handicaps. The Kentucky Easter Seal Society has been helping people with communication problems since 1948," Combs said.

"Today, the Kentucky Society provides this service in five centers and employs more than 20 people in this professional field."

The Easter Seal centers which provide this service, include the Hearing and Speech Center, Louisville; Geiger Easter Seal Center, Ashland; Cardinal Hill Hospital, Lexington; the West

Kentucky Easter Seal Center, Paducah and the Northern Kentucky Easter Seal Center, Covington, Combs reported.

In 1975 these centers provided assistance to 5400 Kentuckians, most of them children, he said. In addition, 3550 other people received hearing-screening tests from a mobile unit located at the state and county fairs, he continued.

A variety of techniques are used. Group therapy, where several children with similar problems are placed together. For others, recreational or play therapy may be used in conjunction with individual instruction. Books, toys and other objects are used to hold a child's interest while he learns to form words.

For information about services, Combs said interested persons may contact the Easter Seal center in their locale or may write the Kentucky Society at Post Office Box 1170, Louisville, Kentucky 40201.

The society's programs are financed by donations to the Easter Seal campaign now underway and continuing through April 18, Easter Sunday.

Kentucky Can "Do The Job" If Mass Immunization Necessary

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky will be able "to do the job" if a mass immunization program against swine influenza goes into effect, says Dr. William P. McElwain, Commissioner of the Bureau for Health Services in the Department for Human Resources. Because every county has a local health department and public health nurses, it will be "fairly easy" to distribute and administer the vaccine, according to McElwain.

"The problem will be in obtaining the vaccine. It's a question of whether or not enough vaccine can be produced in the available time," he explains. The proposed mass inoculation program is "totally unprecedented—we've never done anything like this before, but we do have the experience of the polio campaigns to draw upon," McElwain continues. He suggests that Human Resources would distribute the vaccine, and each county health department would decide on how best to handle the actual immunizations for their area.

McElwain says that if most of the inoculations are administered by September or October, "we'll be all right—but we'd like to see children immunized before school starts." He explains that in this state, the flu season usually begins about December, but that if a vaccine is to be effective, it must be administered several weeks before exposure to the disease is likely to occur.

Dr. McElwain and a representative of the Kentucky Medical Association will attend a briefing on the flu immunization program to be held in Atlanta on April 2.

USED HIS FEET AND IMAGINATION.
LOS ANGELES (AP) — According to at least one police officer in Los Angeles, jaywalkers must be the most imaginative offenders of the law. When the officer arrested one man for jaywalking, the straight-faced offender insisted he thought the "Don't Walk" sign was an advertisement for the bus company.

The Klondike gold rush started with the discovery of gold on Bonanza Creek just east of Alaska's border with Canada, Aug. 16, 1896.

SAFE DRIVING
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Records show the safest country to drive in is Egypt and Austria is the most risky. However, the death rate is only one factor to consider in judging a country's driving record. There are many other factors such as the number of cars on the road, road conditions and population density.

ORANGE INDUSTRY DATES TO 1873
RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The California orange industry can be traced to Brazil.

A farmer's wife in Riverside in 1873 sent for two seedless orange trees from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. She planted them near her kitchen door and watered them with dishwater. The trees belonged to the Washington navel variety originally imported from Brazil.

The two trees adapted themselves to the California climate and within a few years an industry was born.

PUBLIC NOTICES
"BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.)

Tale of Catnapping Is the Real Meow

IRVING'S DELIGHT. By Art Buchwald. McKay. 95 Pages. $5.95.

Some people are born swimmers. Others can play the piano beautifully as soon as they can reach the keyboard. Art Buchwald's talent is for funny.

Readers of Buchwald's many books and miscellaneous pieces know he can be relied on to take on almost any subject, no matter how sacred, and tickle some humor out of it. In "Irving's Delight," Buchwald speaks—along with a number of other things—television commercials, specifically pet food commercials.

It seems that there's an advertising director named Edgar Allen McGruder who's in "charge of spending two million dollars a year to persuade American cat owners to feed their pets nothing but Pussyfoot Cat Food." McGruder, naturally, is allergic to cats. They make him burp. One day when it's time to film a commercial McGruder doesn't burp. The reason is that Irving, the cat superstar of cat commercials, hasn't shown up for filming. The reason Irving is a superstar is that he can eat cat food with his paw, a talent not common to cats. The reason he hasn't shown is that he has been catnapped.

McGruder, whose company faces bankruptcy if Irving isn't around to push the product, engages famed French detective Alain Pierre Bernheim, a specialist in finding lost pets, to find Irving. He does, eventually. But on the way to the solution McGruder puts in lots of fun, laughs and some excellent satire that makes his little book a pleasant read.

Better Days And Happy Endings

It is rare for a female superstar to come along in the music industry. However, Melissa Manchester will quickly develop into a superstar probably after "Better Days & Happy Endings" has run its course on the charts. Many critics see Melissa as bridging the gap between adult contemporary pop music and the rock 'n' roll world. In other words, she is a very versatile artist.

"Better Days & Happy Endings" is not quite as good as her previous album, "Melissa," but it is still a winner. The album contains her latest hit single "Just You and I" and is sung with great sentimentality and feeling.

Most of the cuts on the album are written and composed by Melissa and Carole Bayer Sager. The worlds of the songs are excellent!

Not only is the composing of high fleet quality but so is Melissa on the piano. No wonder many people refer to her as "the new Carole King."

Other cuts on the album that we consider of good quality are "Come In From the Rain," "Better Days," "Happy Endings," "Good News" and "My Sweet Thing."

The two worst cuts on the album are the non harmonic and loud sounding "Stand Up Woman" and the brassy, 1920's fervor of "Sing, Sing, Sing."

CB Contest

Radio Shack is offering $100,000 in cash prizes for the best original music and lyrics in a song centered around the theme of Citizens Band radio, its operation, everyday use or any phase of CB activity, real or imagined.

The 1976 Realistic $100,000 CB Song Search is a unique songwriting contest open to any U.S. or Canadian resident. There is no entry fee and entrants do not have to be professional musicians or songwriters. Any number of songs may be entered as long as each is recorded on a separate cassette tape.

Entrants may perform their own song, or have it performed for them as long as it is an original creation. Songs may be country, folk, rock, rhythm and blues or any style desired.

Each entry will be judged on the basis of originality, musical quality and lyric content. Elaborate or professional instrumentation, special vocal arrangements or production will have no bearing on judging.

A total of 63 cash prizes will be awarded. Each of the top 50 entries will receive $1,000 and the ten semi-finalists will win an additional $2,000. Third place winner will receive $5,000 more, second place an additional $10,000 and $15,000 more will be awarded to the first place winner for total first place winnings of $18,000.

The ten winning songs will be recorded by Radio Shack in a professionally arranged and produced album. Entry forms and complete contest rules are available from Radio Shack stores and dealers in all 50 states and Canada.

New Releases

'1984'-Type Book Ends Weakly

THE TOMORROW FILE. By Lawrence Sanders. Putnam. 503 Pages. $9.95.

The year is 1998. Tomorrow, The Statue of Liberty has been outlined in red neon. A coast-to-coast airplane flight takes one hour. Sex and violence are still prime-time television fare. Soft drinks are addictive and most foods and beverages are made from petrochemicals.

Scientists run the country, encourage genetic ratings for all workers and plot euthanasia for obsolescence, those older persons who remember real food, real beverages and 1970s society.

The facts of Lawrence Sanders' fantasy of the future may sound fearsome, but the plot is more familiar.

Scientists are trying to get control of the government apparatus by dirty trickery, and they're developing such things as an ultimate happiness pill to assist them. Nicholas Bennington Flair, a bright young scientist, wants more power over projects that his superiors think are too far ahead of their time. He discovers some corruption on the part of his boss and sometime lover, Angela Teresa Berli, and through plotting her downfall, comes very close to implementing his "tomorrow file" himself.

Sex scenes, violence and a voyeuristic look at what the future might be keep the reading light. The story is interesting, but somehow the conclusion is weak and lacking in impact. One expects more from Sanders than a story that tapers off into nothing.

Plastic Pipe--Coming Or Going

By Jenny Pulliam

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Plastic pipes for plumbing may be the coming thing, but it's not clear yet whether they'll be coming to Kentucky or not.

The state plumbing code committee, an advisory body to the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, recently held a public hearing in Frankfort to gather information on expanding the use of ABS and PVC schedule 40 plastic pipe into nonresidential buildings.

A.B. Hunter, of the Plastic Pipe Institute, presenting the proponents' argument before hearing officer Mark E. Gormley, said that his organization first approached the Kentucky Plumbing Code Committee in 1973. He explained that since that time the Plastic Pipe Institute, which represents 812 manufacturers, has submitted technical and engineering data both to this plumbing code committee and to the previous one.

Hunter reported that the plastic pipe association has 1,500 graduate chemical engineers qualified for a job in plastics. "We submit the products to the National Sanitation Foundation," he said. "Then they're submitted to the American Society of Testing Materials or any other agency that has measuring standards."

"Going through those processes," Hunter continued, "establishes a criteria that doesn't permit just any piping to pass. Those decisions have been made because the materials had a national standard. When it comes to plastic piping, first we determine the need. And then, we ask ourselves, what does this material have to do? Then we go back and make the product."

Hunter also introduced into the record a consolidation of the technical reports of the plastic pipe institute.

John English, a plumbing contractor from PeeWee Valley, said, "When plastic pipe was first introduced, I was reluctant myself to use plastics. However, in the past years, we've used many, many tons of plastics. We've done houses that cost a quarter of a million dollars — houses whose buyers chose their own materials."

English added, "I don't keep mechanical contractors from using cast iron pipes so why should they be able to keep me from using plastics?"

Others who testified on behalf of plastic pipe are: John Mirlsena, president of a northern Kentucky associate plumbers organization; Roy Danehour, plumber; Ed Jackson, master plumber; Fred Espenscheid, plumber; Ronald Erpenbeck, master plumber, and Charles Loneman.

Opposing the expanded use of plastic pipe was Stanley Boyd, state deputy fire marshal. Said Boyd, "Our biggest concern right now is for fire safety in high rises. We aren't jumping on plastics. But we regulate carpet and draperies, and we're going to have to regulate plastic pipes from plumbing, also."

Plastic Pipe opponents Joe Robertson and Richard Morris of the East Iron Soil Pipe Institute, also testified against the plastic piping products. Robertson said, "I'm not an expert on plastics, but I do know most of the things that are bad about plastics."

Among factors that could influence plastic pipe, Robertson said, are: stress corrosion, household chemicals, aging, expansion, contraction, heat, shrinkage, abrasive forces and commercial pipe cleaners. Another danger, he said, is the fire hazard of ABS and PVC plastics and the toxic gases that can be released in such fires.

Robertson continued, "As you can see, I'm not for putting restrictions on plastic pipe — I'm for eliminating it completely."

Also testifying against plastic pipe were: R.E. Cockerill, Mechanical Contractors Association of Kentucky; David Schroer, of Cantex, a division of Horoscope Corporation; and Carl James, U.S. Pipe and Foundry.

The record of receipt of written testimony supporting or opposing the expanded use of schedule 40 plastic pipe will remain open through March 19. Anyone wishing to submit further evidence may write: Art Curtis, Assistant to Plumbing Director, 6th floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

In an earlier meeting, members of the plumbing code committee reviewed and made recommendations on product approval requests from plumbing manufacturers.

The plumbing committee recommended state approval of Envirovac Vacuum Sewage System for use as a portable mobile restroom at construction sites and parks. They also recommended use of Olin Plastic Pipe and Fitting's sewer and drain pipe for subsurface field, standardized under the American Society of Testing Materials (ASTM) E 2729. Recommended use of the pipe was limited to the leaching field and from the tank to the leaching field.

Tabled until future meetings were Ultraflow Corporation and an adaptor for tubular trap to schedule 80 and 40 ABS and PVC.

The next meeting of the Kentucky Plumbing Code Committee is scheduled for 10 a.m., May 12, at the Capital Plaza Tower in Frankfort.

Ford Takes Campaign To Wisconsin Today

By The Associated Press
President Ford took his campaign for a full term in the White House to Wisconsin today while Democrats battling for their party's presidential nomination sought votes there and in New York.

First on Ford's agenda for today was a news conference in Milwaukee, followed by a trip to West Bend. He planned stops Saturday in Fond du Lac and Green Bay — all in search of urban, ethnic and farm votes in Tuesday's balloting.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, Washington Sen. Henry M. Jackson and Arizona Rep. Morris K. Udall, contestants in the Democratic race, were on a single stage in New York City on Thursday. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., unannounced as a candidate but willing to accept a draft, was there, too.

Humphrey drew frequent and loud applause as he called for a new Marshall Plan to rebuild the cities. The Marshall Plan was devised after World War II to reconstruct Europe.

The New York primary is also next Tuesday.

By evening, Carter and Jackson were in Buffalo and Udall was headed for Wisconsin. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has been in Wisconsin for several days and planned to stay there through the weekend.

The primaries in Wisconsin and New York are the first since Ford was upset by Ronald Reagan in North Carolina on March 23.

Reagan, the former California governor, is listed on the GOP ballot in Wisconsin, but he called off all campaign appearances in the state this week to concentrate on a national television speech Wednesday night. In the speech, he assailed Ford's administration, particularly off foreign policy.

Discussion at Thursday morning's forum in New York City, sponsored by the National Conference of Democratic Mayors, was on urban issues.

Jackson and Udall, as they have before, called for a federal takeover of all welfare costs, while Carter said he was against the idea.

The former Georgia governor said such a takeover would add $15 billion to $20 billion to the budget without improving benefits. The states should carry the welfare burden, he said, not local governments.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has said it does not know exactly how much it would cost for the federal government to assume all welfare costs.

Neither Jackson nor Udall said specifically how they would pay for such a program, although Jackson has said he would finance his social programs through full employment, which he has said would raise the government's income tax revenues.

Wallace, in an interview in Rhinelander, Wis., said the United States is more dependent on foreign energy sources than it was during the oil embargo of 1973-74. He called for Congress to enact a national energy conservation plan.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, the most recent entrant in the Democratic race, said he will ask the three television networks to sell him a half-hour for a live address.

In Neenah, Wis., former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird accused Reagan of making a phony attack on America's military might in his nationally televised address.

The former California governor "deliberately misled the American people by using false quotes to gain a slight advantage in the campaign," Laird said while campaigning for Ford.

Reagan said Wednesday night that Ford's foreign policy has left the United States in second place militarily behind the Soviet Union.

Laird said Reagan's attack should have been directed instead against the Democratic controlled Congress for cutting defense spending.

There were these other political developments Thursday:

—The most recent Harris survey showed Humphrey the preferred choice for the Democratic nomination, with Carter running a clear second, followed by Jackson, Udall and Wallace.

Humphrey defeated Carter 48 per cent to 43 per cent and the others by wider margins, the poll said.

John B. Connally, the former Texas governor and Treasury secretary, said he believes Ford has the best chance of winning the GOP presidential nomination.

A Senate appropriations subcommittee approved the spending of $5.2 million in federal money for security at this summer's national political conventions.

—The House approved a comprehensive revision of the campaign finance law, rejecting Ford's request for a simple bill to get money flowing again to presidential candidates.

The Federal Election Commission's authority to distribute federal matching money to candidates expired March 22 under a Supreme Court ruling. So far, candidates have piled up $1.1 million in funding requests awaiting the commission's renewal.

The House bill has several basic differences from the one approved by the Senate last week.

State Reps Favor Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — All but two of Kentucky's U.S. Representatives voted with the majority Thursday as the House approved 241-155 a measure to reconstitute the Federal Election Commission.

Voting "yes" to resume federal funding of presidential campaigns and to amend the Federal Election Campaign Act were Democratic Reps. John Breckinridge, Carroll Hubbard, Romano Mazzoli, William Natcher and Carl Perkins.

Kentucky's two Republican House members, Gene Snyder and Tim Lee Carter, voted against the measure.

Revival Services At Story's Chapel

Dr. William P. Mullins, Jr., pastor of the South Pleasant Grove and Story's Chapel United Methodist Churches, will speak at the Pre-Easter

No New Talks Are Scheduled

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — No new talks were scheduled today between the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and Thomas Industries, Inc., where a strike has idled about 275 workers.

IBEW's Local 1090 went on strike midnight Wednesday when their contract expired with the lighting fixture manufacturer's Moelicht plant.

Pickets were up at all entrances to the plant Thursday. About 23 striking Teamsters Union members also walked the picket lines.

The last negotiating session between the union and company was Wednesday night. The union rejected an 18-month company contract offer, saying it lacked immediate salary and fringe benefit increases.

A total of about 600 persons are employed at the Moelicht facility.

Superintendents Cautioned About Open Records Law

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky Supt. of Public Instruction James Graham has cautioned local school superintendents to "be careful" about implementing the state's new open records law.

At a meeting Thursday to brief the superintendents on legislation approved by the 1976 General Assembly, Graham advised giving a serious look at the open records bill, which will require most local and state agencies to open their records for public inspection.

Graham said there's some uncertainty as to how the law should be administered, since it contains certain exemptions. He told the superintendents to ask their local school boards to begin developing implementation procedures.

He said the superintendents are "the records custodian. If any person comes in and asks to look at the records — whether a taxpayer or not — you must show him."

He said a superintendent is entitled to keep the records private where he feels the requests are intended to disrupt school activities; where opening the records would constitute an invasion of privacy; where they are preliminary opinions or memoranda expressing opinions in the formulation of policy, or where records are being maintained in connection with a loan.

He told the superintendents they may prohibit the removal of records from the school or office, but that they must also provide a suitable space where anyone wishing to do so may examine the records.

"I would be careful with it," Graham warned.

He also said that legislation permitting the mention of God in the classroom may be difficult to implement.

He cited two bills approved by the 1976 legislature. One permits local school boards to allow voluntary recitation of the Lord's Prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance in elementary schools.

The other permits the teaching of the Biblical theory of creation in a course where the doctrine of evolution is taught.

Graham said the first bill "is one of those things that might give us a problem... God is mentioned and you know what that means."

(The teaching of religion is prohibited in public schools under a Supreme Court ruling.)

Graham said the latter bill forbids placing the emphasis on any particular denomination when teaching the biblical theory, and he said it too could become a "toughie" for school administrators.

Graham also said it may prove difficult to administer the program to replace student fees with tax dollars, because the $9 million in the governor's budget may not be enough to replace fees in all the local school districts.

"It may not do the entire job," he said. "We must develop something that will not harm the quality of education."

He said a committee would probably be appointed to study the problem.

Despite the potential difficulty in implementing certain bills, Graham indicated he was pleased at the overall quality of legislation relating to education.

"I would hope we come out of 1978 with as good a legislative program as we did in 1976," he said. "Sometimes it isn't the good bills you pass — it's the bad bills you keep from passing."

BAND BOOSTERS

The Murray High School Band Boosters Club will meet Tuesday, April 6, at seven p. m. at the band room. An election of officers will be held and all parents and interested persons are urged to attend, according to Art Jewell, president.

Carroll Sets Record Low For Veto Of Legislation Actions

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The legal deadline has passed for the governor to veto bills approved by the 1976 Kentucky General Assembly, and Gov. Julian Carroll has apparently set a record low for recent legislative sessions.

He vetoed just four of the more than 300 bills passed by the 1976 legislature.

Of the others, he signed all but 13, which will become law without his signature.

The previous veto record was set by Wendell Ford, who vetoed only 17 bills as governor in 1974.

Carroll's press secretary, John Nichols, said the governor did not sign 13 bills because he did not support them, "but there was no major reason not to let them become law."

They include a bill permitting small wineries to operate in Kentucky; a bill raising the interest rates for small loan companies; a bill relieving property owners of liability for injury to a trespasser, except when inflicted by the land owner.

Scotts Grove Will Hold Revival Meet

Revival services will begin at the Scotts Grove Baptist Church Monday evening, April 5 and continue through the following Sunday with Rev. A. L. Wade as evangelist.

Services will begin each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Sunday services will begin and a couple of resolutions urging the President and the U.S. Congress to respect states' rights and to avoid creating unnecessary layers of bureaucracy.

Two of the bills vetoed by the governor originally had his backing.

A strong anti-trust bill — originally touted as part of the administration's consumer protection legislation — was vetoed and Carroll signed a weaker version instead. The bill that will become law is aimed at breaking up monopolistic business practices, but doesn't give the state Attorney General the injunctive and investigative powers that the stronger measure did.

The other vetoed administration bill was part of the governor's criminal justice package. It would have permitted inmates to participate in work release programs outside the prison during the 90 days prior to parole.

Carroll said he had to veto it because the state Corrections Department made an error in listing the types of convictions that would allow a prisoner to participate in the program.

If the legislation had become law, 165 inmates currently working outside the prison would have been made ineligible, Carroll said.

The governor also vetoed a corporation license tax law because he said it apparently conflicted with existing state law. He directed the Revenue Department to study the law and see whether changes need to be made.

The fourth bill was vetoed because it appeared "contradictory and confusing," Carroll said. It would have permitted local and state government to make health coverage available through health maintenance organizations as well as through group hospitalization insurance plans.

Carroll said a new federal regulation will achieve much the same objective as the vetoed bill, by permitting firms employing 25 or more persons to offer a health maintenance organization option.

All bills, except those with an emergency clause, become law June 19.
